The “Three Peak House” is inspired by the dual meaning behind the word “peak”, referencing either mountains or waves and reinforcing the idea that the house would be comfortable in either a country or coastal setting. The “Three Peak” concept is reflected in the three roof gables, defined by their purpose: eating, lounging, sleeping. The concept is expressed via an elegant and linear design.

“Three Peak House” is modestly sized, yet feels generous and lofty. The design is highly flexible and can be expanded if desired. A generous outdoor terrace connects directly with the kitchen and living spaces, encouraging an easy flow for socialising. There are window seats throughout the spaces, which allow one to experience the landscape whilst feeling warm and cosy. The ensuite adjoins a private courtyard where you can bathe and feel immersed in nature. To emphasise the sense of ease and relaxation, there is a sunken lounge with a fire, for retreating to on a winter’s day, or relaxing by in the evening.

The house is designed to be as flexible as possible and could, equally, sit comfortably in an expansive country site, such as a vineyard, or fit on a narrow block. It is built from bricks which are non-combustible and have no ongoing maintenance, suitable to a rural block which may have a bushfire overlay.

“Ruum sets a benchmark for collaboration, we curate and work with top tier architects and builders known for their craftsmanship. The Ruum model is based on all three teams working closely together from the outset to form a stable platform, ensuring a holistic approach to the design, build and delivery of your architect designed home.”

Ruum

With over thirty years of combined experience in the housing industry, our insight into the market led us to rethink and reassess the traditional pathway to architect designed living. We believe everyone deserves access to good design and present an alternative for those who value premium architecture and progressive and flexible design. Ruum commissions signature collections from leading architects, then oversees all stages of this journey on your behalf. Working alongside leading residential architects and selected builders, we eliminate the unknowns of a new build with transparency and trust.

Selected Ruum Builders

We have built relationships with a select suite of builders who have the skills, quality and resources to deliver our Ruum house designs to a premium architectural standard. We have found that carefully pairing the right builders in the right locations ensures the most competitive prices for our clients. These builders understand the Ruum model and this ongoing relationship leads to greater knowledge sharing, useful insights and feedback which, in turn, ensures constantly refined craftsmanship and build quality.

Ruum Escape Collection

In direct response to the market, Ruum has created a new series of homes known as the 'Escape Collection'. The new collection has been created by five leading residential architecture studios, each contributing a house design inspired by the idea of 'escape'. Chamberlain Architects have again returned to design one of the residences, and this time are joined by Andy Wong, Architects EAT, FMD Architects and Tom Robertson Architects.

All designs have been centred around the concept of 'escape', a direct response to the movement of people favouring weekend getaways and an increased demand to live and work remotely on rural or coastal sites.

Andy Wong

Andy Wong has a passion for quality residential architecture. He brings to Ruum over twenty years of design experience with John Wardle Architects, having worked on numerous award-winning country and city homes, before commencing his own practice.

Andy admires that the Ruum model makes quality architecture more accessible, delivered via a carefully controlled process that is more efficient. Andy looks forward to contributing a design to the Ruum collection that is light-filled, sustainable and joyful.
